3. SOURCE MATERIAL (EARTH-616)

Field	Entry
Primary comic(s) adapted	"Demon in a Bottle" , Iron Man #120–128 (1979), David Michelinie, Bob Layton & John Romita Jr.: Tony's alcoholism, Justin Hammer's sabotage, and the armor killing a diplomat. Tales of Suspense #50 (February 1964): the Mandarin .
Supporting comics	Tales of Suspense #52 (April 1964): the Black Widow's first appearance, as a Soviet spy against Iron Man · Tales of Suspense #57 (September 1964): Hawkeye's first appearance. After a misunderstanding at a carnival, the Widow tricks Hawkeye into fighting Iron Man. · Iron Man #169–170 (1983): Rhodey puts on the Iron Man armor · Tales of Suspense #62 (1965, the Mandarin's origin and the Makluan rings)
Nerf check	✅ The Mandarin is one of the most powerful villains Iron Man has. All ten rings work at full comic strength, and Tony can't win on his own.

3A. COMIC ACCURACY REPORT

Field	Entry
Overall accuracy score	95%. It combines four landmark storylines. The main change is timing: the Widow and Hawkeye's debut (1964) is paired with "Demon in a Bottle" (1979), and the villains' plots are woven together.

Straight from the page:

- "Demon in a Bottle": Tony's drinking spirals. Justin Hammer remotely takes over the armor, and it fires on and kills the ambassador of Carnelia in public. Tony is disgraced, loses control of his company, and hits bottom. He gets sober by his own choice.
- Justin Hammer: a smooth, jealous rival arms industrialist (Iron Man #120).
- The Mandarin: a Chinese genius and martial-arts master who found ten alien rings in the wreck of a Makluan starship in the Valley of Spirits (ToS #50, #62).
- The Black Widow: a Soviet spy sent to steal Stark technology, seductive, deadly and a master of disguise. On 616 she was trained in the Red Room (the later 616 version), and she's a ballet dancer.
- Hawkeye: Claire Barton, a carnival sharpshooter raised in the circus, sees Iron Man in action at Coney Island and decides to become a hero. On her first night out she's mistaken for a thief, and the Black Widow takes advantage of that and recruits her against Iron Man (ToS #57).
- Rhodey in the armor: while Tony is out of action, Rhodey wears the Iron Man armor in combat (Iron Man #169–170). ("Next time, baby" pays off.)
- The attaché-case armor: Tony carries a portable armor in a briefcase (Silver Age).

Changes and why:

| Change | Why |

|---|---|

| The Widow and Hawkeye (1964) appear in the same film as "Demon in a Bottle" (1979) | Sliding timescale. It gets both of them established before The Avengers, and the Widow's manipulation of Tony adds to his crisis. |

| Hammer and the Mandarin work together | In 616 they were separate threats. Here Hammer is the Mandarin's Western supplier, so the two plots become one. |

| Hawkeye is Claire Barton | Per the Casting Rules. She's always been Claire. Nothing else changes. |
