3A. COMIC ACCURACY REPORT

| Field                  | Entry                                                 |
|------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| Overall accuracy score | 97%. Avengers #59–60 is adapted beat for beat. |

Straight from the page:

- Hank, overwhelmed by guilt over Ultron, inhales chemical fumes in his lab during an experiment.
- A new personality appears: Yellowjacket, brash and arrogant in a yellow-and-black costume, who claims to have killed Hank Pym (#59).
- Janet is the only one who figures out that Yellowjacket is Hank. She agrees to marry him anyway, knowing Hank is in there (#59–60).
- The wedding at Avengers Mansion, with the whole team there (#60).
- The Circus of Crime (the Ringmaster, with his hypnotic top hat) crashes the wedding to rob the guests (#60).
- In the fight, Hank's real personality comes back. Janet and Hank are married (#60).

Changes and why:

| Change | Why |

---|---

| Hank's guilt is tied directly to Ultron | MCU continuity. On 616, Ultron (#54–58) came right before Yellowjacket (#59–60), and we make the cause explicit. |

| Scott Lang's seed (1979) | It sets up the next Ant-Man. On 616, Scott Lang worked for Stark International. |

How the mental-health story is handled: Hank's identity crisis is treated seriously and with compassion. It's a man breaking under guilt, and the people who love him bring him back. It's played as a story about recovery.

|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Logline              | Guilt over creating Ultron breaks Hank Pym into someone else, and the only person who can bring him back is the woman who's about to marry him. |
| Theme                | Love as recovery. You don't have to be whole to be loved.                                                                                |
| Villain / antagonist | The Ringmaster and the Circus of Crime; also Hank's own guilt                                                                            |

What the movie is about

ACT ONE: GUILT

- Monday, May 18, 2015. A month after Ultron, Hank Pym isn't sleeping. He's in his Cresskill lab around the clock trying to "fix" what he made.
- Janet watches him disappear into the work.
- An experiment goes wrong. Chemical fumes, a collapse.

ACT TWO: YELLOWJACKET

- A new hero in yellow and black bursts into Avengers Mansion: brash, cocky and brilliant. He calls himself Yellowjacket and says he killed Hank Pym.

- The Avengers nearly take him down. Janet stops them. She's watching his hands. It's Hank.
- Janet: "Then marry me." Yellowjacket, stunned: "...Sure. Why not."
- Tony, Cap and the rest are horrified. Janet: "He's in there. I'm not giving up on him."

ACT THREE: THE WEDDING

- Saturday, June 20, 2015. Avengers Mansion. The wedding: every Avenger in formal wear, Jarvis serving champagne, and Stan Lee officiating.
- The Circus of Crime crashes it. The Ringmaster hypnotizes the guests and robs them.
- Janet isn't hypnotized. She takes on the Circus alone while the Avengers are frozen.
- The Ringmaster aims at Janet. Yellowjacket gets between them, and Hank comes back in the middle of the fight.
- Hank and Janet, married, fight the Circus side by side.
- The Ringmaster is taken down, and the Avengers wake up covered in cake.
- On a rooftop at night, Hank and Janet, both shrunk to half an inch, sit on the edge of a champagne glass: "Partners?" "Husband."
